SALES CONDUCTED BY MR. FREDERICK A. CHAPMAN.

INTRODUCTION

Mr. Thomas R. Abbott, whose collection is here offered at public sale, is a permanent resident of Peking, where he has made his home in the Chinese quarter for many years, devoting his time to the study of art. Curators of European and American museums and also private collectors visiting Peking in search of rare objects, have availed themselves of Mr. Abbott's assistance; and officials of the foreign legations there seek his aid and judgment from time to time in making their finer purchases. Mr. Abbott's knowledge of the Chinese language has made it possible for him to become the friend of mandarins and nobles who are, like himself, art connoisseurs, and the field of opportunity and knowledge thereby opened to him is greatly extended beyond that of the less fortunate collector. Mr. Abbott has often viewed and studied the Imperial Collections preserved in the Forbidden City.

Many of the objects that make up his collection were once the possessions of Princes or Mandarins; for his collection includes pictures by old Chinese Masters; a piece of sculpture that might be called unique; pottery of the Sung, Tang, and even earlier dynasties; rare porcelains, exquisite pieces of kus-su (Chinese tapestry), and old jade, old lacquer, and old rugs.

Mr. Abbott wishes it to be clearly stated that all of the paintings are not considered by him in the first class. While all possess some merit a number are, as compared with the unquestioned masterpieces, only of the character of decorative scrolls; and a few are displayed only because of their peculiar execution. It is likewise the case with some of the other minor objects.

The periods accredited to the various articles are those given by Mr. Abbott.

The collection was brought to the United States direct from Peking by Mr. Frederick Moore, who is also a well-known collector.

SPECIAL NOTICE

In view of the high quality and value of several of the masterpieces of painting and sculpture included in this Collection, The Anderson Galleries, contrary to their practice, have permitted a minimum reserve price to be placed on them. In such cases an asterisk will be found preceding the number in the catalogue, and all such items will be sold subject to these reserves which will be announced at the sale.

[NUMBER 1]

FIRST SESSION

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 16, 1917

AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

Lots 1 to 121

1 FAMILLE ROSE PANEL CHIEN LUNG

An exquisite porcelain plaque in delicate colors. Representing a phoenix group upon a rockery with graceful peony sprays in several colors. The plaque is framed in black and is supported upon a stand of carved black wood.

Height, 20½ inches.

[See Frontispiece]

2 TURTLE GREEN CELADON VASE

LATE YUAN OR EARLY MING

An oviform, short-necked jar decorated with three Archaic heads and four rims around the neck. The crackle, dark at the base, pales as it approaches the neck, and then darkens again,

Height, 9 inches.

3 OLIVE GREEN CELADON BOWL LATE SUNG

Of the style known as the Kung Ming bowl, with a filled base. According to tradition, the Emperor who designed this bowl was a weak warrior who wished to give the effect of eating many bowls of rice, which were in reality only partly filled. Beautiful color, crackled generally in vertical lines. Of thick, heavy pottery. Black wood stand.

Height, with stand, 6½ inches.

4 TALL BEAKER OF "PRECIOUS STONE (BAOSHIU)
BLUE" KANG HSI

A slender vase with flaring base and lip. Of the deepest blue glaze, the beaker being the shape and design of an old bronze. A white rim breaks the glaze at lip and base.

Height, with stand, 9 inches.

5 BLUE AND WHITE VASE YUNG CHUNG

A slender oval vessel of soft paste, semi-eggshell; the decoration being in the design of a pine tree, a clouded moon appearing on the reverse side, the scene making a delicate little picture. A fine, almost invisible crackle throughout the glaze.

Height, with stand, 6 inches.

6 BLANC-DE-CHINE TEAPOT AND CUP LATE MING

Coiling dragons of lizard-like lines form the handle and spout of a slender vase-like pot with only a single line around the center ending in a bowknot. A single tall cup with flaring rim is plain, its beauty being purely in the lines and proportions.

Height of pot, 6 inches; height of cup, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

7 TRANSMUTATION GODDESS SHRINE SUNG

A conspicuous specimen of glazing representing one of the rock or cave temples of China with a Kwan-yin enshrined within a grotto. A suggestion of lotus buds stud the stones around the image, who is correspondingly clad in white. The goddess holds on her arm a child, indicating that she is the Goddess of Maternity. A slight crackle covers the white glaze and runs in places through the other colors. A small chip from the base has been replaced and repaired.

Height, with stand, 20 inches.

[See Illustration]

PORCELAIN KANG HSI

11 SMALL BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE IN IRON RUST
PORCELAIN KANG HSI

Similar to foregoing but of a slightly different coloring.

[See Illustration]

GREEN CELADON VASE
LATE YUAN OR EARLY MING
[NUMBER 12]

14 AGATE SNUFF BOTTLE CHIEN LUNG

With green stopper. Rectilinear lines. No ornamentation, the color alone being its charm.

Height, with stand, 3 inches.

15 OLD JADE SNUFF BOTTLE CHIEN LUNG

A piece of old jade of great age, carved in more recent times. Representing a fruit cluster with insects upon it. Green jade stopper.

Height, with stand, 4 inches.

16 TWO MINIATURE JARS IN IRON RUST PORCELAIN KANG HSI

Oviform. Although practically a pair, there are slight differences in the color when closely examined; also a slight difference in the shapes; while one is rimmed with white at the lip, the other is uniform in color.

Height, with stand, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches each.

17 THREE SNUFF BOTTLES EARLY CHING

(a) Mutton fat jade of beautiful lines. No decoration. Green turquoise stopper.

(b) Famille rose porcelain with paneled scenes in several colors, and blue and white side panels. Coral and pearl stopper.

(c) Mutton fat jade of fine lines. Chinese characters chiseled on one side and a scene on the other. White jade stopper.

18 JADE SNUFF BOTTLE CHIEN LUNG

Short ovoid shape. Green and white jade. Coral stopper.

Height, with stand, 3 inches.

Flaring vessel of cream color, with narrow base and notably beautiful lines; sustained on a tall black stand.

Height, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches; breadth, $9\frac{1}{4}$ inches.

20 BLUE AND WHITE SOFT PASTE JAR CHIEN LUNG

Of semi-eggshell character. Beautiful lines. A very rich blue. Decorations in Archaic and other designs on a crackled white. Black wood stand and lid in beautiful carving.

Height, with stand, 5 inches.

21 INCENSE POT IN BRONZE COLORS CHIEN LUNG

A notable specimen of the porcelain maker's attempt to imitate metal. A low pot of the shape of a bronze temple utensil, with colors imitating the original bronze with patina incrustations. Flaked with touches of real gold in the manner that bronzes were sometimes spotted. Lotus scroll decorations form a band around the vessel.

Height, with stand, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches; breadth, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

22 BOWL IN "PRECIOUS STONE BLUE" LATE MING

Embossed dragon design under the glazing.

Height, with stand, 7 inches.

23 GOURD-SHAPED BOTTLE LATE SUNG

A fine specimen of what is known as mirror or lacquer black porcelain. Perfect in shape and of high lustre.

Height, with stand, $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

24 SACRIFICIAL CUP YUNG CHUNG

Of copper colored glaze sometimes called sesamun color. A conventional bowl-like shape supported on a comparatively tall flaring base. The lines are those of an ancient wine glass. A notable imitation of metal.

Height, with stand, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

25 POTTERY GRAVE CAMEL TANG

Partially glazed in three colors. An unusually fine specimen of these burial images. The long-legged beast is remarkably lifelike, with high raised head, an open mouth, and tail slashed to one side. Few finer examples of the camel in this form are found. Unfortunately, the base and legs were broken in transit to this country and have been repaired. It is seldom that these pieces arrive intact, owing to the exceeding brittleness of the clay, due to over nine centuries of age. Height, $26\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

(Note attached to similar pieces in the Metropolitan Museum:—"In prehistoric times the custom prevailed in China of burying the retainers and wives with the dead. In later times the intention took the place of the deed, and the dead were furnished with images of what was supposed to make the hereafter comfortable. Up to the end of the Tang period, A.D. 906, pottery figures were put in the graves, then wooden ones came in fashion, which have perished, and now it is the custom to burn paper images at the funeral. The figures shown here are modelled and mostly cast in soft fine white clay and partly covered with green and yellow lead glazes fired at low heat."

[See Illustration]

26 POTTERY GRAVE ATTENDANT TANG

In character of pottery and glaze the same as the foregoing. The figure is standing erect with hands folded beneath the sleeves, a customary Chinese attitude. The sculpturing is notable. A benign expression rests upon the face. The head is unglazed, as is frequently the case; the rest of the figure is glazed in three colors. Being of brittle clay, due to great age, the tall slender image was broken in transit to this country, but has been repaired.

Height, $38\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

27 POTTERY TOMB FIGURE TANG

Evidently the figure of a slave or concubine, with a European suggestion of style, the head-dress and features of which are well chiseled. Head and feet unglazed; the rest of the figure, including a high collar, is covered with brown glazing. Height, 12 inches.

POTTERY GRAVE CAMEL
TANG

[NUMBER 25]

28 FAMILLE ROSE OVIFORM VASE CHAR CHING

Height, with stand, 7 inches.

29 CARVED BLACK WOOD CABINET

Inset with porcelain panels of the Chien Lung Period. Such cabinets were designed by the Chinese as gem cases. The upper portion is of glass; the lower of carved wood, with the porcelain panels set into the doors.

Height, 22 inches; width, $13\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

30 CARVED BLACK WOOD CABINET

Mate to foregoing. Height, 22 inches; width, $13\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

31 GREENISH IVORY SNUFF BOTTLE CHIEN LUNG

An egg-shaped bottle with a pink agate top. Of peculiar discoloring.

Height, 2 inches.

32 POTTERY CENSER SUNG

Shaped after the design of bronzes and ornamented with dragon panels. Grotesque lion heads with feet protruding from the mouths form the legs. The fu lion surmounts the cover. The pot has been painted or glazed, but has generally lost this exterior. Cover slightly chipped.

Height, with stand, 15 inches.

33 OVIFORM CRACKLE JAR EARLY CHING

A vase of handsome shape with an even all-over crackle.

Height, with stand, 16 inches.

34 CLAIR DE LUNE BOWL YUAN

A handsome specimen of Thirteenth Century pottery. Conspicuously marked with an aubergine thumb print within and a spot of the same color on the outer brim. The principal color of the glazing is likewise notable. A crackle covers the bowl irregularly.

Height, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches; breadth, 6 inches.

35 TING WHITE BOWL SUNG

Of the conventional shape of these early examples of the potter's art, flaring upward from a narrow base. Of the usual rough handiwork, but of beautiful and effective lines and glazing. On a blue, silk covered stand.

Height, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches; breadth, $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

36 KWAN-YIN IN THREE COLORS EARLY MING

Goddess of mercy artistically sculptured in pottery. Face, hands and feet in the conventional manner left unglazed. Draperies of recognized Ming coloring. A benign expression appears on the crowned head of the deity, who holds an infant on her knee. On a brown, silk covered stand.

Height, with stand, $17\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

37 OLD SADDLE CLOTH IN BLUE

With beautifully worked sprays of flowers and butterflies. The contrasting central device in imperial yellow.

Size, 4 feet 5 inches x 3 feet.

38 RED LACQUER BOX LATE CHIEN LUNG

A triangular example of delicate carving. A little scene presenting a sage and a boy wandering among mountains decorates the cover. An octagonal honeycomb design surrounds the box. Lining of plain black lacquer.

Length, 8 inches.

39 RED LACQUERED HORSE SADDLE CHIEN LUNG

Of full size, with high front and back. Ornamented in heavy lacquer with roses, lotus sprays and the emblem of good fortune. This work of art in saddlery has been in actual use, two of the leather trappings remaining still fastened to it. The lacquer was of such fine, hard quality that it is now but slightly impaired. Length, 21 inches.

40 RED LACQUER SCEPTRE CHIEN LUNG

A beautifully shaped and delicately carved ju-i, or sceptre, with green silk tassels. An elephant sustaining a pot of flowers, surrounded by Buddhist emblems, forms the ornamentation of the head; fish and peaches, with a bat, decorating the panels in the handle; lotus and geometric designs alternate between the panels. The reverse side is covered with a minute fret. Length, 15 inches.

41 NOTABLY GRACEFUL KWAN-YIN EARLY MING

Of three-colored, partly glazed pottery. The face and part of the body have been painted with a material most of which has disappeared, leaving the flesh of the figure, where it is undraped, in the unglazed pottery. The carefully chiseled lines of the face, as well as those of the draped body, are the work of a master. Mounted on a silk stand.

Height, with stand, $15\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

42 PAIR OF TING WARE WHITE BEAKERS SUNG

Of the shape of temple vases. Tall, with a trumpet flare; broken by ovoid center, with fluted bands. A delicate crackle throughout the glaze.

Height, with stands, $12\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

43 SEMI-EGGSHELL BOWLS KANG HSI

A handsome pair in imperial yellow. Of notable shape and glazing.

Height, with stands, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

44 TRANSMUTATION PLATE LATE YUAN

What is known as the Kuam yao or Kuam ware. Of an almost black base color with shadings of cloud-like effect in pale blue. The bowl or plate is fluted like an open six-petaled flower with a narrow rim. The glazing covers the vessel completely with the exception of the base, only a slight chip having been broken out of the rim.

Height, 2 inches; breadth, 8 inches.

45 BOTTLE-SHAPED "SPLASHED" VASE CHIEN LUNG

A large vessel of perfected lines and beautiful coloring. An even crackle covers the alternating colors of the "flame." Except for a ridged rim at the base of the neck the coloring and lines are the only decorations. The mouth of the vase was broken in transportation to this country, but has been repaired.

Height, with stand, 16 inches.

46 THREE SNUFF BOTTLES EARLY CHING

(a) A flat round bottle in agate, of peculiar and fascinating color. Stopper from the same piece of stone.

(b) Cloudy agate bottle, vase shaped, with lion head handles. Beautiful colors. Silver stopper inset with green and red stones.

(c) White jade bottle, with scenes at sides and animal head handles. Aquamarine stopper.

47 THREE SNUFF BOTTLES EARLY CHING

(a) Gracefully carved, vase shaped, cloud colored agate, with handles in the shape of lions' heads. Silver stopper.

(b) Polished agate bottle with a natural scene in the stone, representing a bird on a branch, in a deeper hue of agate. (It is noteworthy how the stone cutter has carefully chiseled the sides of this bottle to make the stone present its own picture). Green jade stopper.

(c) Old jade bottle, vase shaped, with lions' heads for handles. The latter have been blackened by, it is understood, a process of fire, making a notable contrast.

48 STANDING FIGURE OF CONFUCIUS SUNG

In three-colored pottery. The face and hands bear traces of having been gilded. Of peculiarly fine sculpturing, lines of the face being notably well chiseled. The sage is represented as standing with folded hands, clad in ancient robes, in purple trimmed with peacock green; a scarf thrown about his shoulders and a crown-like cap of ancient design. (The head was broken off in transportation to this country but has been effectively replaced). Height, 26 inches.

[See Illustration]

49 GREENISH CRACKLE BOWL SUNG

Of heavy pottery. Glaze notable in perfection and coloring. Crackle deeply marked in lines. A slight chip in the rim. Height, 4 inches; breadth, 7½ inches.

POTTERY FIGURE OF CONFUCIUS
SUNG

[NUMBER 48]

50 NOTABLE POTTERY CENSER WEI

Fine patina in mother-of-pearl glaze. Of plain cylindrical lines. A decorated band, enclosing doglike animals, binds the pot, forming the only chiseled decoration except the legs, which are of little, indiscernable figures.

Height, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches; breadth, 8 inches.

51 "IRON RUST" POTTERY CENSER KANG HSI

An incense bowl in which the potter has imitated the color of minerals, and shaped his vessel in imitation of the brass and bronze pots that are set before gods in their shrines. No decoration except the coloring.

Height, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches; breadth, 6 inches.

52 CENSER IN PRECIOUS STONE BLUE KANG HSI

A broad porcelain bowl of exquisite lines. Enameled in a black blue, with archaic animal heads forming the handles.

Height, with stand, 8 inches; breadth, 9 inches.

53 RARE TRANSMUTATION BOTTLE SUNG

The glaze in lavender and aubergine, conspicuously touched with white. A piece of unusual shape as well as quality; tall, swelling gradually from the base, then closing again sharply to the short neck. Height, with stand, 10 inches.

54 TALL SLENDER-BODIED WHITE VASE

LATE SUNG OR EARLY YUAN

Of unusual shape and unique markings. Almost cylindrical, with but a slight effulgence rising to the neck, which is inset sharply. Mythical animals' heads, the only ornamentation, stud the two sides. The white glazing is broken by discolored bands which have taken on a brown cast and have become crackled. Here and there definite lengthy lines have broken through the glaze only, the pottery being of a thick, heavy quality. Height, with stand, 19 inches.

[See Illustration]

SLENDER-BODIED WHITE VASE
LATE SUNG OR EARLY YUAN
[NUMBER 54]

55 IVORY WHITE VASE SUNG

Of notable lines and coloring. The neck and base being of the same breadth; a gradual broadening from base and top to the full center. Otherwise plain, except for the beautiful crackle glaze. Sometimes called butter white.

"The God of Your Wishes." In conventional lines. With a yellow glaze finely crackled. Height, with stand, 4 inches.

57 RED LACQUER FLOWER POT WITH FLOWERS OF OF SEMI-PRECIOUS STONES CHIEN LUNG

A rich and beautiful specimen of this peculiarly Chinese handiwork. Rectangular lacquer bowl highly carved with paneled scenes on each of the sides and beautifully drawn scrolls of the lotus combined with archaic geometric designs. From the bowl a gnarled tree rises gracefully, sustaining fruits and flowers in jade, turquoise, amethyst, agate and crystal, with flowers of coral and pearl. The profusion of delicate colors harmonizes strikingly. Height, 21 inches.

58 RED LACQUER FLOWER POT WITH FLOWERS OF OF SEMI-PRECIOUS STONES CHIEN LUNG

Mate to foregoing.

Height, 21 inches.

59 CUT GLASS BOTTLE IN TWO COLORS CHIEN LUNG

A specimen in fine lines and colors, with notably artistic carving. The latter is done entirely upon the super covering of rich amber-colored glass, the white base forming the background. Lions at play in their native lair girdle the ovoid body of the bottle; song birds among flower branches surround the tall cylindrical neck. In every way a notable specimen of the glass cutter's art.

Height, with stand, $11\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

60 ANCIENT JADE CUP FROM A VERY EARLY PERIOD

Carving of peculiar grotesqueness and yet great beauty. The weird head of a fabulous water beast, with tossing spray forming the handle, is the decoration of the base. Above it entwine prong-tailed lizards. The rich colors of old jade cover the piece. Height, with stand, 7 inches.

61 LOTUS LEAF CUP IN TWO-COLORED JADE MING

A beautiful chiseled stone, the main body of which has the quality of translucency and a green color, like that of water in which lotus blossoms grow. The rest of the stone, of which the branches and other devices are carved, is of a wood-like hue. A lotus pod, a tiny crab, a swallow and a frog, all in miniature, repose upon the great leaf. A conspicuous example of the Chinese stone cutter's method of shaping his device from what his stone will afford.

Height, on hard wood stand, 6 inches.

Rectangular. Of fine lines and good carving.

Height, on stand, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

Of heavy pottery and dull glaze. A double line of knob-like studs surround the bowl, and low raised animal heads occupy the place of handles. On high wooden stand.

Height, with stand, 36 inches.

65 BEAUTIFUL RECTANGULAR POTTERY VASE

LATE YUAN OR EARLY MING

Of ivory and silver gray hues, crackled throughout. Decorated only with plain lines, forming vase and panels.

81 UNUSUAL SILK RUG

SEVENTEENTH OR EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

The border is of three rows of swastikas upon which tiny red bats are set. A piece of great rarity. Size, 4 feet 8 inches x 3 feet 3 inches.

SUBJECT: A Misty Morning.

ARTIST: Mei Yu-jen, son of Mei Fei. Size, 39 x 82 inches.

One of the foremost masterpieces of Chinese landscape painting.

ARTIST'S BIOGRAPHY: Mei Yu-jen, son of the brilliant and eccentric Mei Fei, was a great lover and collector of ancient works of art. His style in painting morning and evening scenes was very impressionistic and was considered better than that of his father. He became the President of the Fu Wen Ke and died at the age of eighty.

The picture bears the signature and seal of the artist and is dated the 8th year of Hsiao Hsing, 3rd Moon, 2nd day. The drawing was made therefore, A.D. 1138.

INK PAINTING ON SILK WITH SLIGHT COLOR.

*115 SUNG PAINTING A.D. 960 TO 1280

SUBJECT: An Eagle.

ARTIST: The Emperor Hui Tsoung.

Size, $33\frac{1}{2}$ x $64\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

The picture is sealed by the Emperor and bears written by himself two large bold characters, Yu Pi, meaning "Imperial Brush."

An eulogy written by Ho Chih Chung, his Chief Councillor, reads after this manner.

"The physical features of the animal creation are pre-ordained according to locality and climate. Thus the colors of the rose are not those of the wild goose nor the plumage of birds of paradise and phoenixes given to domestic geese and ducks. Black herons, white chickens, red and yellow birds are different.

"The eagle is a bird of the west, ferocious in nature and tanned in color. A white eagle is seldom seen. The influence of your Majesty's virtue and benevolence not only extends to Heaven and Earth but also to the animal and vegetable kingdom, resembling as they do, a blessed omen of a mighty nation.

"Yesterday your minister went to the garden behind the palace and saw a big eagle, nearly pure white, standing on a frame; greatly was he perplexed; the picture was so vivid that he felt he was in the actual presence of the bird. The stately form, the strong wings, the long feather, the vigorous neck, all conspired to give it the appearance of an albatross*. Surely it is a response to your Majesty's virtue and benevolence. Not only is the bird a good omen but the brush of genius with which it was drawn cannot be surpassed.

"Grand Councillor

"Your Minister

"Ho Chih Chung"

*In comparing the Eagle of the picture with an Albatross the Minister emphasizes the strength of the drawing.

ARTIST'S BIOGRAPHY: Hui Tsung reigned A.D. 1101. 1125 and was an artist and calligrapher of high merit. In the first year of his reign he established a school of calligraphy and painting which survived until the time of the Mings. During the wars in which the Khans gradually conquered China he was taken prisoner and carried off to Tartary where he died in 1135, having suffered ten years' captivity.

*117 FOURTEENTH CENTURY PAINTING YUAN

SUBJECT: The Emperor Wu Te seeking the Elixir of Life.

ARTIST: Chao Meng-fu. Size, $37\frac{1}{2}$ x 49 inches.

The Han Emperor Wu Te, is known in history as a mystic and an ardent student of the Tao. In his reign lived an alchemist, Li Shan-kung, who professed to know the whereabouts of the Elixir of Life. Wu Ti believed in him and sent him on a voyage to obtain it but Li died on the way. The credulity of the Emperor may be realized from the fact that he would not believe his favorite dead but rather that he had been called away to be a god!

ARTIST'S BIOGRAPHY: When the House of Sung was gradually retiring to the south before the conquering Mongols and about the year 1254 of our era, was born Chao Meng-fu sometimes known as the Apostle of Pine-trees and Snow. The Mongols eventually established their rule over the whole of China in 1280 and six years after this we read of Chao's being summoned to Court and appointed secretary in the Board of War. By 1316 he had risen to a high post in the Han-lin College, and was much esteemed by the Emperor, who always addressed him by his style Tzu-ang instead of using his official name Meng-fu. "As a calligraphist, his name was known all over the Empire; and his pictures of scenery, trees, rocks, flowers, bamboos, people and horses were exceedingly delicate and refined."

LIGHT COLOR PAINTING ON SILK, signed Tzu-ang, sealed by the artist and dated the 3rd Moon of the 3rd year of the reign of Ta Te. (A.D. 1299).

*262 SUNG PAINTING A.D. 960 TO 1280

SUBJECT: Carp.

ARTIST: Hsu Chung-chu.

Size, 39 x 74 inches.

Fishes and pond life for many centuries have been a favorite motive with Chinese painters, and the art which made a fish dart and turn and leap was theirs exclusively. Spirited and vivacious, this fine example was drawn when Chinese painting was at its zenith. Then no painter could claim success unless his work could prove its worth by exhibiting the spirit of the object drawn. No matter how well worked out in detail or correct in proportion, form or line, if it lacked vitality it was worthless.

The Carp is believed by many Chinese to be able to transform itself into a dragon and for that reason is held sacred. It is also regarded as the King of Fish and is one of the Buddhist emblems of longevity.

ARTIST'S BIOGRAPHY: Hsu Ch'ung-chu was a grandson of Hsu Hsi, a famous painter of flowers and insects. He was especially skilled in the painting of fish which drawn by him seemed to live and move in the water. He also painted flowers, birds and portraits of ladies.

*263 SUNG PAINTING A.D. 960 TO 1280

SUBJECT: The mountain retreat of Tao Hung-ching:

ARTIST: Chao Po-chu (Literary title, Chao Chien-Li.)

Size, 31½ x 61½ inches.

Tao Hung-Ching, a celebrated exponent of Taoism, lived A.D. 452-536 during the reign of Liang Wu Ti, who frequently sought his advice. Tao abhorred the ways of courts, and long ere middle age had retreated to the Chu Chu Hills, where among the pine trees he gave himself up to a life of study and meditation. He died, happy and at peace, at the age of eighty-five years.

ARTIST'S BIOGRAPHY: Chao Po-chu, a versatile painter and a great soldier, more generally known by his literary title Chao Ch'ien Li.

NINTH CENTURY PAINTING BY YEN LI-PEN

[NUMBER 264]

*264 TANG PAINTING A.D. 618 TO 907

SUBJECT: The Marquis Jharn Chien meeting the angel
Chih Fier.

ARTIST: Yen Li-pen.

Size, 15 x 35 inches.

On this picture is written a description in ten characters by the Emperor Hui Tsung. It also bears three of his seals.

Chang Ch'ien, sent by the Emperor to discover the source of the Yellow River which was believed to rise in the Milky Way, came to a place where on one bank was a damsel spinning and on the opposite a young man leading an ox to the water. Chang Ch'ien asked what place it was and in reply the woman gave him her shuttle telling him when he got back to his own country to show it to Chun P'ing the star gazer, who would know from it where he had been. When the shuttle was shown to Chun P'ing, the wise man referred to his records and found that on the day and at the hour when Chang Ch'ien received the shuttle a strange star obtruded itself between Chih Nu and Ch'ien Niu, two constellations whose positions in the heavens are one on either side of the Milky Way, Chih Nu being the Spinning Damsel and Ch'ien Niu the Cow-herd. It was accordingly inferred as certain that the voyager had actually sailed upon the Milky Way. "Alas!" said he, "I might have asked for the Elixir of Life but I did not know they were Immortals!"

ARTIST'S BIOGRAPHY: Yen Li-pen who lived in the 7th century of our era was a famous artist of his day. It is written that the Emperor Tai Chung while walking in his garden saw two beautiful birds which so pleased him that he immediately sent for Yen to paint them. It was a very hot day and the artist was unwell but who dare disobey an Emperor? Yen went, and by the same evening the picture was finished. At his home he met his son, and said, "My son, painting is a noble art and has many charms, but all its nobility and charm are lost when one is obliged to paint in order to maintain an official position. Be either an artist or an official, but be not both at the same time!"
